

Still Deciding

I need an edge to burgeon.
Pass me the edge so that I may cut.
It may be too blunt to use
But I can use a blunt to take away my edge.

A blunt contrivance to concuss combatively.
Biological warfare on the edge of erupting.
My body can't take it but my mind has grown blunt to the behavior.
Uncaring, caustic, and choleric is what lies at my mind's edge.

Apathy for my blunted perception,
Animosity towards an edging anxiety,
Appeasement to my blunt intentions,
Agitation during rosy and unpleasant edging.

I feel as if I must edge this steel
As I wait for you to be blunt.

Don't take long—thoughts of a particular paramour have edged into my mind....

- Tayseer